Research Seminar Series

Exploring Environmental Determinants of Health Through Culture, Context, and Global Learning in Italy

Dr. Devan Romero

Short-term study abroad programs offer unique opportunities to examine how environments shape health beyond traditional exposures. This talk explores how cultural, social, and place-based experiences in Italy influence students' understanding of health and wellness. Qualitative findings highlight how food systems, lifestyle, and cultural norms function as environmental determinants of health, with implications for global and environmental health education.

May 5, 2026 - ACD 102

12:00 PM to 12:50 PM

California State University SAN MARCOS
PLANNING AND ACADEMIC RESOURCES

CSUSM Committee for International Research

California State University SAN MARCOS
OFFICE OF GRADUATE STUDIES AND RESEARCH